

Help Wanted: FBI Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Help wanted: FBI director. Must be bright, aggressive and committed to the law. Mental and physical stamina essential for working long hours, settling touchy internal arguments, and facing frequent public criticism. Rewards include $57,500 salary, a measure of fame and substantial power. Apply to the attorney general, Washington, D.C.

The Carter administration once again is sending "help wanted" signals after U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson concluded that his health prevents him from becoming FBI director.

Attorney General Griffin Bell announced Johnson's decision at a news conference Tuesday. He said he and President Carter may agree on a replacement by Jan. 17, when Congress returns from a recess.

Bell asked the current director, Clarence M. Kelley, to postpone his scheduled Jan. 1 retirement until mid-February. Kelley was to give Bell his answer today.

In a statement from his Montgomery, Ala., office, Johnson said his slow recovery from major surgery last August has forced him to step aside and to ask Carter to withdraw his nomination.

"It will be several more months before I will regain my strength and stamina," Johnson said. "It will not be fair to the Federal Bureau of Investigation or to me to keep this matter pending any longer."

The Alabama judge was Carter's first choice for the job, and the President will have a tough time finding another nominee with such broad support. Civil rights groups that have criticized the FBI for past abuses of individual rights praised Johnson for his judicial decisions protecting the rights of schoolchildren, prisoners and mental patients.

FBI agents and other law enforcement groups generally were pleased with Johnson's record of imposing stiff prison sentences in criminal cases.

"Johnson has become the standard, and it's going to be a helluva tough standard for anyone else to come up to," a department official remarked.

Bell, who will recommend a potential nominee to Carter, said he doesn't plan to rush into a decision.

As the talent search resumes, speculation turned first to four men who were recommended last June by a presidentially-appointed screening committee.

The committee's list included John Van de Kamp, district attorney of Los Angeles County; Neil Welch, a career FBI man and chief of the agency's Philadelphia office; John J. Irwin, a judge on the Massachusetts Superior Court, and Sheriff William Lucas of Detroit.

But all appeared to be at a disadvantage for one reason or another.

Lucas suffered from the disclosure that he had participated in gambling junkets to Las Vegas. Welch was not widely supported within the bureau because he had a habit of challenging FBI traditions. Irwin has no federal government experience. And some thought Van de Kamp at 41 was too young for the job.

Russia Sides With Opponents Of Sadat Plan

CAIRO (AP) — The Soviet Union, as expected, has sided with Arab opponents of President Anwar Sadat's Cairo conference with Israel, while Israel has rejected a proposal from U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim that everybody try to get together at a conference at a neutral site.

U.S. officials said Moscow passed its "nyet" to Washington and joined Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization in refusing to attend the parley Sadat called to pave the way for a new Geneva peace conference.

However, the Egyptian president's Arab opponents were divided among themselves, with Libya and Algeria scheduling one anti-Sadat Arab summit in Tripoli Thursday and Iraq planning another one next week in Baghdad.

The United States, after three days of official silence, announced that it would attend the Cairo meeting but did not announce its delegate. He was expected to be Philip C. Habib, the undersecretary of state for political affairs, or Alfred L. Atherton Jr., assistant secretary of state for the Near East.

Waldheim named Finnish Gen. Ensis Siilasvuo, the coordinator of U.N. peacekeeping operations in the Middle East, to represent him in Cairo.

Speaking at a news conference in New York, Waldheim cited the "limited" turnout expected at Sadat's meeting. He suggested that the lineup Sadat originally planned — Egypt, Israel, Syria, Jordan, Lebanon, the PLO, the United States and the Soviet Union — meet in about two weeks at U.N. headquarters in New York or some other neutral site.

Syrian and PLO officials at U.N. headquarters expressed interest in the proposal, a spokesman for Waldheim said. But the Israeli Foreign Ministry said in a statement:

"Israel supports the idea of direct talks between the parties such as took place in Jerusalem and are about to take place in Cairo. ... No purpose will be served by holding an additional preparatory conference."

The statement added that the Geneva conference "should be reconvened following the Cairo talks."

The Mena House, where President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek held their 1943 Cairo Conference, was being readied for Sadat's parley, but the date still was not announced. However, the Israeli state radio said the talks probably would not get under way until next week.

Only Egypt, Israel and the United States will be represented. Syria, the PLO and the Soviet Union refused the invitation. Jordan said it would only attend if all the others went, and Lebanon said it would continue the neutrality it maintained during the four Arab-Israeli wars.

Barnes Hopes To Implement GOP Restructuring Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Republican Chairman Earl T. Barnes says he hopes to begin implementing the first of next year a plan restructuring the GOP in Ohio with greater emphasis on grass roots participation.

He came up with it after becoming chairman May 15 and touring cities and towns all around the state. The Ohio Republican State Central and Executive Committee approved it without dissent at a meeting in Columbus Tuesday.

It calls for the appointment of six party field representatives in as many geographic areas of the state. They will work closely with small and rural candidates to raise funds and elect candidates, while metropolitan areas with already viable organizations will continue their existing operations.

Barnes said the currently "top heavy" state headquarters in Columbus, in another part of the plan, will stop the practice of statewide mail solicitations of party contributions.

Some counties have complained that the state organization has dried up campaign funds in local areas, and some local officials expressed concern they were not getting a fair share back from the state operation, Barnes said.

Under the new plan, money raised at the local level will be shared with the state organization "about 50-50," Barnes said. Currently, funds are prorated back to the counties under individual contract after collection at the state level and the deduction of increasingly expensive administrative costs.

Barnes said the state headquarters staff already has been cut from 23 to 17 through attrition in recent months, and that the vacancies will not be filled. Other budgets are being trimmed as well, including that of the Ohio Republican News, he said.

The committee went along reluctantly with Barnes' request to take away his own $40,000-a-year salary in another economy move. But it then decided he should be kept on the payroll "for bookkeeping purposes" at $50 a week.

He will continue in his expense-paid apartment until next July when the current lease expires but wants to drop that too, the chairman said.

In all, Barnes said he hopes the various moves will make possible a reduction of about 50 percent in a state headquarters budget which has been running about $700,000 a year. The party won't be operating with less funds apparently, but local organizations will benefit from the decentralization.

Barnes said he became convinced in his travels around the state that President Carter won Ohio from Gerald Ford last year because Republicans weren't strong enough in small and rural counties. Carter won "by less than one vote a precinct," he noted.

South Africa's Whites Elect Parliament Today

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's embattled whites elect a new Parliament today, and another landslide victory for Prime Minister John Vorster, the apostle of apartheid, is predicted.

Thousands of voters defied rain and gales as the balloting began. Results of the voting, which ends at 9 p.m. (2 p.m. EST) are not expected to be announced until Thursday.

Vorster's ruling National party, campaigning on a platform of continued white supremacy and defiance of the Carter administration and other foreign critics, could win between 125 and 135 of the 165 legislative seats, according to opinion polls and other surveys.

The Nationalists had 116 seats in the last Parliament.

South Africa's 18 million blacks, 70 per cent of the population, will have no say in the outcome.

The issue of "foreign meddling" has eclipsed one of the principal reasons Vorster gave for calling the election 18 months ahead of schedule.

It is a proposed new constitution providing separate parliaments for the 4.5 million whites, 2.5 million coloreds (persons of mixed race) and 750,000 Asians.

Vorster has assured the electorate the whites will remain firmly in control under the proposed constitution. And the blacks will still be denied South African citizenship and allowed political rights only in the rural tribal homelands set aside for them on 13 percent of the nation's area.

The election campaign has coincided with the U.N. arms embargo, the death in prison of black leader Steve Biko, the crackdown on the black civil rights movements, the closing of the two main black newspapers, the arrest of more black leaders and the bombing of the Carlton shopping center in Johannesburg.

The foreign pressure and growing racial tension has tended to draw support to Vorster's Afrikaner-dominated National Party from English-speaking South Africans who have traditionally supported opposition parties during the 29 years the Nationalists have been in power.

Security police arrested about 30 black journalists today as they made a protest march on police headquarters in downtown Johannesburg. The journalists were protesting the detention of at least seven black reporters held without trial.

Two photographers taking pictures of the arrest also were seized.

Carter Names Peace Talks Representative

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter today announced the United States will send a high-level representative to a mid-December peace conference in Cairo and he called recent Arab-Israeli contacts "a historic breakthrough in the search for a lasting peace in the Middle East."

Carter told a nationally broadcast news conference that Assistant Secretary of State Alfred L. Atherton will head the U.S. delegation to the Cairo conference called by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. Carter said the conference is now scheduled for Dec. 13.

The president said that the importance of the meetings between Sadat and Prime Minister Menahem Begin of Israel "is that there has been an initiation of direct, person-to-person negotiations."

Turning to the U.S. role, Carter said, "I think it's much more important to have direct communication between Egypt and Israel than to have us acting as a constant, dominant intermediary."

He further characterized the U.S. role as to encourage progress toward negotiations and an over-all settlement.

"We have no control over any nation in the Middle East," he said. "When we find progress being stopped, we use all the initiative we can."

He referred to the difficulty many Arab leaders have in agreeing to direct discussions with Israel after so many years of armed confrontation and said the United States is taking "concrete steps" to persuade Jordan, Syria and Lebanon to enter the negotiations.

"There is no doubt in my mind that President Hafez Assad (of Syria) wants peace with Israel," said Carter. "There is no doubt in my mind that King Hussein (of Jordan) wants peace with Israel."

While characterizing Egypt as the most populous and powerful of the Arab confrontation states, Carter said that both Israel and Egypt have publicly stated that a separate peace agreement, excluding the other Arab states, "is not desirable."

Only Israel, Egypt, and the United States have agreed so far to participate in the Cairo conference. Syria, the Palestinian Liberation Organization and the Soviet Union have rejected the invitations issued by Sadat.

Asked about criticism of his invitation to the Soviets to resume a role in the search for peace in the Middle East, Carter said, "I believe the Soviets will follow along and take constructive steps for a lasting peace."

The United States and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the Geneva conference at which previous Middle East settlements have been reached.

South Court Street Home Receives SCOPS Award

Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Clifton have received a certificate of recognition from the South Central Ohio Preservation Society for the restoration and preservation of their home at 307 S. Court St.

Mrs. Clifton did the Ohio Historic Inventory on the house this year. Mr. Clifton changed the color from white to peace yellow with white trim and gold shutters in 1976.

The survey indicates the first house was owned by John Hedges in 1832. The Cliftons believe the rear of the house is part of that house. Mr. Amos Beach, a grocer, acquired the property in 1859. He built the front section with a small porch and stone steps.

In 1876 the cupola with cresting was added giving the house its Italianate style. It has been said the cupola was added to be a surprise for their daughter when she returned from school. She was the first Circleville girl to be sent away to college. At this time the rear was two stories, the middle section one and the front again two stories.

Fannie Beach Wilkes inherited the house in 1900. The front porch was extended north and south to front the entire house. Rooms were added to make all the house a two story structure. The house was wired; central heating and plumbing were installed. Trim and decorating were in keeping with the gracious living of the period.

The Cliftons bought the property in 1946. They added one room, replaced the barn with a two car garage, built a louvered fence and an old brick patio.

Lasting Peace In Mid East Needs Moscow's Participation

WASHINGTON (AP) — By turning down Egypt's invitation to attend preliminary peace talks, the Russians have left a clear field to the United States to resume its role of principal mediator between the Arabs and Israel.

But the Carter administration is so lukewarm to President Anwar Sadat's bold diplomatic initiative that there is little likelihood of Washington seizing the opportunity.

Administration policy-makers remain convinced that lasting peace cannot be achieved in the Middle East without Moscow's participation.

They are reluctant, therefore, to adopt the tactics employed by former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger — keep the Russians on the sidelines while forging agreements based on mutual trust of the United States.

Also, these White House and State Department officials want to concentrate on a comprehensive settlement to be negotiated with Syria, which is flirting with Arab "rejectionists," who won't even accept the fact of Israel's existence, and creating a Palestinian homeland.

This course to Geneva is barred by procedural obstacles the administration believes can be cleared only with Russian assistance.

And leading U.S. officials are reluctant to risk deepened divisions in the Arab world by aggressively supporting Egypt's overtures to Israel.

So, as Sadat goes further out on a limb, the administration consults with the Soviets on a high level, publicly urges on them a "constructive role" and, with no real enthusiasm, allows that direct talks between Egypt and Israel could be "useful."

Unheeded is the advice of now private citizen Kissinger to go it alone, without the Russians.

"I do not think the Soviet Union is necessary to bring matters beyond this point," he said after Sadat's unprecedented Nov. 19 mission to Jerusalem. "I would certainly not emphasize the position of the Soviet Union at this point. It isn't necessary."

There is considerable evidence, meanwhile, that Sadat launched his peace campaign partly out of concern over an enlarged Soviet role in the Middle East. The joint U.S.-Soviet statement Oct. 1 building up the Russians distressed the Egyptian leader about as much as Israel was upset by its recognition of Palestinian "legitimate rights."

Sadat long ago expelled Russian military advisers from his country, casting his lot with the United States, who he frequently said, held "99 percent of the cards."

Now, with Sadat's dramatic opening to Israel, undertaken with negligible notice to the United States, the dynamics of Middle East diplomacy may have changed so radically that Washington could not assume its old matchmaker mantle even if it wanted to.

After 29 years of icy hostility and four wars, Egypt and Israel are finally dealing directly with each other. Sadat says he is still seeking an overall settlement involving the parties, but that he will move ahead independently if they do not participate.

Getting used to direct negotiations, Egypt and Israel could reduce the U.S. mediator role to that of message carrier and interested bystander.

Columbia Gas Rates Vary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio rates vary by as much as $42 among service areas, while the state's other three major gas companies charge all of their customers uniform rates, the consumers' counsel said today.

"It is in the best interests of Columbia Gas to divide and conquer," consumer chief William A. Spratley said at a news conference. "I feel it is the purpose of my office to bring communities together to deal with Columbia on a system-wide basis."

Columbia provides service for roughly two-thirds of the state, including the cities of Columbus and Toledo.

The utility, using a "home rule" provision in the Ohio Constitution, negotiates rates individually with many municipalities in its service area, rather than through the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, Spratley said. The communities, however, have the option of going through PUCO.

Market Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened lower today, after a sharp falloff in the previous session. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, down more than 12 points on Tuesday, slipped another 3.29 to 823.98 within the first half hour on the New York Stock Exchange.

Over-all losers outnumbered gainers by a margin of more than 5-2 among NYSE-listed issues.

Analysts expressed some surprise at the size of the decline on Tuesday and cited a variety of reasons including profit-taking, worries about a delay in the government's energy package and concern that a pending decision of foreign tax credits might mean additional taxes for many large oil companies.

Early prices on active issues today included International Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/2 to 32; General Motors, off 3/4 at 64; and U.S. Steel, down 3/4 at 29.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average closed off 12.30 points at 827.27, its largest drop in a single day since July 27, when it fell more than 19.75 points.

Over-all losing issues outnumbered gainers by a margin of more than 3-to-1 among New York Stock Exchange listed issues. Big Board volume came to a fairly active 22.95 million shares, against 21.57 million the previous session.

The NYSE composite index of all listed common stocks lost .78 to 52.24. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell 1.25 points to 122.23.

Amanda Girl Receives Scholarship

BRENDA DONER

An 18-year-old Ohio girl, who had a key role in bringing Santa Claus to her community for youngsters who would not otherwise get to see Santa, has been named one of nine national winners in the 4-H citizenship program.

Brenda Doner, of Route 2, Amanda, received a $1,000 scholarship during the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27 through Dec. 1.

The nine winners, who were selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, were presented with their awards by The Coca-Cola Company, sponsor of the citizenship program.

Miss Doner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Doner, was graduated from high school last spring and is currently working. She plans to enroll at Ohio University at Lancaster to work toward a degree in social work.

The Fairfield County girl led 4-Hers in the effort to have Santa Claus visit her community. Posters were put up throughout the area and the 4-Hers prepared bags of candy for Santa to hand out. "It is so much fun to see the faces and reactions of the children," she said.

Miss Doner also had key roles in 4-H projects to make litter bags for autos. They were distributed by a local store and in a Fourth of July Safety Stop, at which motorists were served lemonade by 4-Hers.

The 4-Her then decided to build a self-determined 4-H citizenship project around community involvement. In this project she has worked as a volunteer for several county agencies.

As part of her 4-H project, Miss Doner served as a counselor at a camp for retarded children last summer. She led games and other activities and counseled on a one-to-one basis.

She also has acted as a volunteer at the County Division of Alcoholism as part of her 4-H citizenship project. She has been learning how to counsel alcohol and drug abuse victims.

Her other 4-H projects have included health, food-nutrition, clothing, public speaking and livestock.

Johnny Cash in Film

FLORESVILLE, Texas (AP) — A seemingly drunken Johnny Cash was driven up to the county courthouse in this south Texas town by a police officer the other day.

Then the officer did it again, and again, and again, until he got it right.

It was all part of filming of a television movie, "Thaddeus Rose and Eddie," part of which is being made in this small ranching community 25 miles southeast of San Antonio.

Floresville was chosen by CBS to portray the hometown of two ram-bunctious modern-day cowboys, played by Cash and Bo Hopkins. June Carter Cash, Cash's wife, also is in the film.

The movie is about the attempts of a cowboy, played by Cash, to stop drinking and chasing women by buying a citrus farm.

EXECUTIVE SPEAKS — Norman H. Baker, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce explains the network of communication between it and the 210 local chambers. He spoke during the Executive Focus, 1978, held in Circleville Monday. Visiting chamber representatives from Lancaster and Chillicothe were present. This was the first of a 12-stop tour the OCC planned for the day.

Legislative Focus Meeting Hosted By Local Chamber

Two area chambers of commerce visited Circleville Monday morning for the Ohio Chamber of Commerce presentation of Legislative Focus, 1978.

Representatives from Lancaster, Chillicothe, as well as Circleville met for breakfast at the Pickaway Arms and for the talk. It covered six "Ohio business pocketbook issues," of workers' compensation, Ohio investment and jobs, local and state school financing, legal and compliance costs and unemployment compensation.

Circleville Chamber Legislative Chairman Tom Tootle welcomed the six members of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce (OCC) to this first meeting in a 12-point stop planned for the day.

A short description of the Ohio Chamber was given by Norman H. Baker, executive vice president. He said the organization is active in keeping up with current legislation being discussed in government, and relaying the information to the 210 local chambers in Ohio. He used slides to show the cooperation between the local and state chamber and explained the procedure if an emergency crisis should occur.

NEW YORK (AP) — Anna Kisselgoff has been appointed chief dance critic of The New York Times, succeeding Clive Barnes, who resigned from the paper last week to join The New York Post.

Miss Kisselgoff, whose appointment was announced in today's editions of the Times by executive editor A.M. Rosenthal, has been a dance critic for the paper since joining the cultural-news department in 1968.

She was born in Paris and raised in New York, and studied ballet for eight years with the late Jean Yzinsky, a former member of Diaghilev's Ballets Russes.

Gregory Fasting Again

BOSTON (AP) — Comedian Dick Gregory, his wife and state Sen. Bill Owens are in their second day of fasting to focus attention on the plight of blacks in South Africa.

The three black activists told a news conference Tuesday they plan to fast until their Dec. 21 trial in Washington on unlawful protest charges. They were arrested Thanksgiving Day for demonstrating within 500 feet of the South African Embassy.

The three complained that blacks in South Africa have been denied God-given rights, that they are not permitted to live freely, and that many are detained in camps that are "often unfit for human habitation" without a chance to defend themselves.

services, then spoke on workers' compensation. He explained the state insurance system and self insurance and the revisions that have taken place in recent years in Workers Compensation organization. He said the basic premium rates have gone up considerably in all areas and feels that a reform bill should be appearing in the 1978 legislative committee.

The director of business and taxation, Jack Rymer said Ohio is below the national average percentage-wise in the number of new businesses and as a manufacturing state. He said Ohio is "losing ground as an industrial state." He said one of the main factors businesses look at when deciding on an expansion site is the rate of taxation in that area. The "tax burden is high in all areas," he said, and told of tax relief bills that have been in the Ohio House that are necessary to relieve Ohio's downward trend.

Finance Specialist Jo Ann Davidson, when explaining school financing, informed the group that three school districts are closed presently in Ohio, with six others possibly joining if levies are not passed in December. She said state support is rapidly growing in larger city school districts, and she sees this trend continuing. She said as far as schools are concerned, no traditional party lines can be drawn.

The Product Liability bill was considered vital by the next speaker Dale V. Bring, OCC staff legal counselor. He spoke on legal and compliance costs and detailed some of the "horror stories" that have increased rapidly over the years in the area of product liability claims. He said the new bill, passed the house and presently being considered in the senate, puts a limit on the claims. Parts of the bill include a 10 year statute on limitations to elevate claims on products purchased over 30 years ago, misuse and alteration clauses and structured settlements. He said liability insurance with this bill will then be affordable for existing products.

The final speaker was William T. (Bud) Blair, in charge of legislative affairs. He said unemployment compensation will be the big issue in the next legislative session. He said it started out as a unique program based on partnership between federal and state agencies with qualifications decided by the states. He said the federal government has encroached more and more with added benefits being tacked on over the years. This leads to cost raises for all size businesses. He advised that businessmen watch the progress of the legislation and relate it to the problems of the particular business.

Executive Vice President Baker summed up the legislative focus 1978 by saying the cumulative affect of all the areas discussed was the important point. He thanked the visiting chambers for attending and Circleville for hosting the event.

Counties Oppose Welfare Increase

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Montgomery County officials have joined Butler County commissioners in opposition to the annual 20 percent state mandated increase in local support of county welfare programs.

In a letter to the Butler County board, Montgomery County commissioners Monday charged the annual increase "would eventually necessitate entire county general funds budgets being utilized to support welfare programs."

The Montgomery board represented the 36th county to join Butler County commissioners in their fight against the annual mandated increase.

Former Mental Home Attendant Charged With 4 Murders

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — A former mental home attendant, recently jailed on rape and kidnapping charges, was charged with four counts of murder Tuesday in connection with a series of unsolved slayings involving women and teen-aged girls.

Larry M. Ralston, a 28-year-old former resident of Norwood, was indicted by a Clermont County grand jury and charged with murders dating back two years.

Bodies of 11 females have been found since 1975 in the Cincinnati-Clermont County area. Batavia is a rural community of 1,800 located about 20 miles east of Cincinnati.

Sheriff John Van Camp called the arrest "a significant and major breakthrough" in the deaths.

Ralston was expected to be arraigned either today or Thursday. No bond has been set in the murder charges, according to Clermont County Prosecutor Robert Jones.

Ralston is being held in Clermont County Jail under a $43,000 bond for kidnapping and rape charges which were unrelated to the murder charges. He was arrested in the Chicago suburb of Mount Prospect and returned here Nov. 15.

Ralston, a former attendant at Longview State Hospital in Cincinnati, was indicted Oct. 19 in connection with abduction and rape of three 15-year-old Cincinnati girls. They were taken to a deserted road in Clermont County and raped, but escaped when a car scared away their attacker, according to homicide Detective Donna Kim of the Cincinnati police department.

After an investigation, she passed along her findings to Clermont County officials, who had jurisdiction in the case. She is credited with providing key information in the arrest of the suspect, according to Sgt. Thomas Young, the number two man in the Cincinnati homicide department.

Ralston is charged with the murders of Linda Harmon, 16, of Mt. Washington; Nancy Grigsby, 23, of Withamsville; Elaine Bear, 15, of Cincinnati, and Diane McCrobie, 17, of Springfield Township.

Miss McCrobie is the latest victim to be identified. Her body was discovered in a state park Oct. 22 in Clermont County. Miss Harmon's body was found in November 1975, Miss Grigsby's in November 1976 and Miss Bear's last February.

All the bodies were found in Clermont County, except for Miss Bear's, whose remains were discovered in a creekbed in Clinton County.

Birth Rate Gaining

For years population experts have been telling us that the baby boom in the United States was over, the birth rate was declining and probably would continue to do so and through the 1980s at least the population was likely to continue to age.

Then along came 1977 and some curious changes began to occur. Studies by the National Center for Health Statistics for the first eight months of the year show that the birth rate, the number of babies born and the fertility rate were all higher than comparable figures for the same period last year.

Is this a new trend developing? The experts want more statistical proof before they are willing to go out on that limb, but already some theories are appearing to explain what may be happening.

An economics professor at the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Richard A. Easterlin, says a rise in the birth rate is a natural reaction to the dwindling ranks of young adults. As it is perceived that opportunities in the future will be improving for acceptance into college and jobs, the fertility rate increases.

Other economists believe the birth rate increase is due to a now-or-never attitude on the part of the baby boom generation following World War II which postponed marriage and child birth. That's just like the economists: Hesitant to pronounce a new trend underway, but quick to offer theories to explain one in case it is.

Testifying In Harlem

By JIM BISHOP

Harlem... It is street fights and spareribs; a white man in a prowl car. It's a fly walking upside down on a ceiling; a drunk rightside up. It's a pimp in yellow shoes, a rat crouching on a crib, boarded stores, sidewalk craps games, six square miles of hate.

Testimony: WAITRESS: "You gonna write about Harlem? For God's sake tell the truth. We ain't as bad as we painted and we ain't as good as we wanna be."

A BLIND ADDICT: "Don't give me no grief, honkie. Go away. Leave us alone."

EDUCATOR: "We have all the rights now. Our children are two years behind the white child in spelling, three years in mathematics. How equal can we get?"

YOUTH COUNSELLOR: "The Communist Party has failed completely. I can't understand why we are loyal to this country."

PASTOR: "I fight pushers. How can you fight it when every dealer has a copy of the Fourth Amendment in his pocket — the Search and Seizure law?"

POLICEMAN: "We can't do anything right. If we don't arrest our own people, the lieutenant is on our back. If we do, the black leaders bug us."

TALL YOUNG MAN: "Ten years ago, a cop said I was headed for Sing Sing. I'm assistant supervisor for the Board of Education. Boy would I like to meet him."

REALTOR: "This is a ghetto. The successful Negro moves out to Westchester, to Long Island, Jersey. What we have here is a half-million angry losers."

JANITOR: "There are children here who have never been to the country, never seen an apple tree, never been on a train or a plane. Some don't even know they're black."

DUDE: "Status, man. Everything is status here. It's a big, shiny car. Maybe a woman with pale skin. How about a silk suit and alligator shoes? Don't look when the white man boils your drinking glass."

WELFARE CLERK: "Twenty percent of all fathers leave home. The women run the family. It was the same in slave days. The black male was sold away from his women and children."

POLITICIAN: "Worry about the boys. Worry about them. They drop out of school in big numbers. At 16, they pick a goal. Be a numbers runner, a thief, or be a 'good Nigger' who can run an elevator or park a car."

BOOK STORE OWNER: He has a portrait of Jesus in a window. "This can't be God," a caption says. "He has the wrong hair." He shrugs. "Bitter? Not me. The blacks can't make eyeglasses and they don't own pants factories. The Puerto Ricans make eyeglasses and employ Negroes in their factories. Everybody is born equal, mister. It just don't remain that way."

PUBLISHER: "Look out the window. See those dirty old tenements? Who owns them? The white man. Who owns the stores? The white man. Who underpays the black and overcharges him for everything from rent to pizza? The white man."

CANDY STORE OWNER: "It's our boys. They have wrong notions. Give him a job with a briefcase and he'll work for peanuts. Ask him to push a broom for $200 a week and he'll walk away."

ELECTRICIAN: "Let's stop talking and start. I learned my trade in the Navy. I look for young married men. They have more responsibility. Right now I have a class of nine studying to be electricians. Talking won't do it, man. We're gonna move up one step at a time. One step..."

NAACP LEADER: "Right now we want 400,000 more jobs for blacks. But we realize that 400,000 whites are going to have to give up their jobs. Would you like to stick around until it happens?"

FATHER: "The saddest part about busing is that my children made friends with white kids. You can invite colored to your house and it's okay. My little ones are too ashamed to invite anyone to our place."

NAACP LEADER: "Right now we want 400,000 more jobs for blacks. But we realize that 400,000 whites are going to have to give up their jobs. Would you like to stick around until it happens?"

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a consensus among economic forecasters for 1978, and raised in bold relief above all other components are the words: No recession.

"The excesses and imbalances which in the past have signaled the approach of a cumulating downward adjustment are simply not present," is the way it was put by J. Robert Ferrari, Prudential Insurance chief economist.

The details: —Expansion, inflation omitted, is expected to average between 4 percent and 5 percent, tending off late in the year. The latest rate is about 4.8 percent.

—Inflation may average a little higher than this year, somewhere between 6 percent and 7 percent, compared to about 6.5 percent for 1977. The chances seem to be high that 1978 will be a mirror image of 1977 in regard to prices. This year the trend of increases was down as the year matured; next year, prices might rise as the year progresses.

—Unemployment might decline, but only slightly, to about 6.5 percent, compared with a current rate of about 6.7 percent or 6.8 percent.

—Consumer spending should continue to be fairly strong, but no stronger than this year.

—Personal income, after taxes, seems likely to grow fairly strongly, as it did in 1977.

There are warnings in the forecast consensus, but there always are. Sometimes there are spots on the telescope; and images become blurred as the forecaster peers deeper and deeper into economic space.

—Because of the latter, there is a tendency by some forecasters to give tentative warnings about a possible recession to begin very late in 1978 or in 1979. Not a severe one; instead, one seen mainly as a consequence of the expansion's age.

—Capital spending by industry is expected to pick up sometime during the year, but not quite to the level of 1977, which itself was a poor year. Uncertainty hurt it this year; that uncertainty should be gradually dispelled in 1978.

—Inflationary pressures are built into the 1978 economy. Energy legislation, a higher minimum wage and almost certainly higher food prices are expected to keep pressure on household and corporate budgets.

The uncertainties about which the forecasters complain this year are not so much in the economic as the legislative area. What will be the shape of the energy bill? Will there be a tax cut?

Not only are the forecasters unable to answer these questions, but they are not certain about the resulting impact. Still, almost to a man, they foresee no unexpected turns to the economy in 1978. The other side of the coin is that they do not expect any sudden good news to add any great strength to the expansion.

Most decline to use the word recession when speaking about the weakening they expect late in 1978, but for the reason that they are limiting their views to 1978 alone.

After that? Well, that's next year's forecast.

POLICE INSPECTOR: "I was born here. Today the little ones see so much street crime that everything is tame to them. On television, when they see an addict giving himself a jolt, they bust out laughing. 'Lookit him,' they shout. 'He don't even know how to do it.'"

BANK OFFICER: "Until recently, we wouldn't employ a black as a teller. We didn't understand that if you give a black man a position of honor, he'd die of starvation before he'd touch a nickel that wasn't his."

FATHER: "The saddest part about busing is that my children made friends with white kids. You can invite colored to your house and it's okay. My little ones are too ashamed to invite anyone to our place."

NAACP LEADER: "Right now we want 400,000 more jobs for blacks. But we realize that 400,000 whites are going to have to give up their jobs. Would you like to stick around until it happens?"

Show me a black who isn't neurotic and I'll show you a person who isn't normal. Testimony...

seems likely to grow fairly strongly, as it did in 1977.

There are warnings in the forecast consensus, but there always are. Sometimes there are spots on the telescope; and images become blurred as the forecaster peers deeper and deeper into economic space.

—Because of the latter, there is a tendency by some forecasters to give tentative warnings about a possible recession to begin very late in 1978 or in 1979. Not a severe one; instead, one seen mainly as a consequence of the expansion's age.

—Capital spending by industry is expected to pick up sometime during the year, but not quite to the level of 1977, which itself was a poor year. Uncertainty hurt it this year; that uncertainty should be gradually dispelled in 1978.

—Inflationary pressures are built into the 1978 economy. Energy legislation, a higher minimum wage and almost certainly higher food prices are expected to keep pressure on household and corporate budgets.

The uncertainties about which the forecasters complain this year are not so much in the economic as the legislative area. What will be the shape of the energy bill? Will there be a tax cut?

Not only are the forecasters unable to answer these questions, but they are not certain about the resulting impact. Still, almost to a man, they foresee no unexpected turns to the economy in 1978. The other side of the coin is that they do not expect any sudden good news to add any great strength to the expansion.

Most decline to use the word recession when speaking about the weakening they expect late in 1978, but for the reason that they are limiting their views to 1978 alone.

After that? Well, that's next year's forecast.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband smokes more than three packs of cigarettes a day. He's about 40 pounds overweight. My children and I get sick whenever we see him walk up the driveway, breathing so heavily we wonder if he can make it. I'm sure it's the cigarettes. He won't listen to anyone, not even to his doctor. Can you give us any help at all?

Mrs. D.E., Kan.

Dear Mrs. E.: Your "cry in the wilderness" is one that is heard by doctors everywhere. Often they, too, despair as to what to do with hard-headed people who insist on committing suicide their way.

Overweight people who smoke that many cigarettes a day are putting an enormous burden on their heart and lungs. Emphysema is one of the end results of the punishment that tobacco gives to the lungs.

It is pathetic to see so many valuable, productive human beings reduced to chronic invalidism because they refused to take the advice of their doctors.

Emphysema is not the only cause for shortness of breath. Other factors must be ruled out and the only way to do this is to have a thorough physical examination to be sure that your husband's heart and circulatory system are normal.

Too much pressure or nagging accomplishes little. Giving your husband encouragement and assurance that his condition may still be reversible is a better way to get him to follow his doctor's suggestions. Many three-pack-a-day smokers have been able to stop. The compensation in good health makes the effort worthwhile.

Is there any harm to weight lifting? My 15-year-old boy has just begun and we're a little concerned about it.

Mrs. N.N., N.C.

Dear Mrs. N.: This form of exercise is an excellent one and is encouraged in many high schools and colleges.

Like all other sports, it must be started slowly and under proper coaching and supervision.

Sometimes, a weakness in the groin may be responsible for the formation of a hernia. A simple examination can readily reveal if any such tendency exists.

Body conditioning of this sort is very helpful for the psychological self-image that young people like to have. This, in addition to the physical advantages, makes the sport a well-rounded one. A slow, progressive, unhurried increase in weight lifting is the key to good conditioning and safety.

Colder Than Normal Winter Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is at least a 50-50 chance that northern and central parts of the nation will experience a colder than normal winter, but not as frigid as last year, the National Weather Service reports.

In its annual December-February forecast, the Weather Service said Monday there is a 65 percent chance that temperatures will be colder than normal in the far northern part of the country.

Chances are 50-50 for a colder than normal winter across the central section and the Mississippi Delta, while in the Southwest and Southeast, there is a 65 percent chance it will be warmer than normal, forecasters said.

The Weather Service has said the odds are 30 to 1 against a repeat of last winter's severe conditions, which were the worst in nearly 60 years for most of the midwestern and eastern United States. A year ago, forecasters had predicted colder than normal temperatures, but that proved to be an

Money Stolen From Exxon Gas Station

Russ Lutz reported a breaking and entering at the Exxon Value Center, 235 E. Main St., to Circleville City Police today.

According to Ptl. R. E. Smith's report, Barb Justus opened the station for business at 7:30 a.m. She went to get the money stored in the building, but the money was missing.

Justus called Russ Lutz who came to the store. Lutz found a window broken on the west side of the building and said that the money bag was missing. Nothing else in the building was bothered. There was a loss of $120.

Gasoline Taxes Are Distributed

November gasoline excise tax checks totaling $9,871,245 were distributed today by State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office to Ohio counties, townships, cities and villages.

Ferguson said that each of the state's 88 counties received $35,000 and the state's 1,320 townships received $1,200 each.

Circleville received $8,420, Ashville $1,469, Commercial Point $158, New Holland $531, South Bloomfield $521, Tarlton $308, Williamsport $628.

Ferguson said gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes.

New Kiwanis Members

John Raterman, energy coordinator at Circleville General Electric Lamp Plant, was the speaker at Circleville Kiwanis Club meeting Monday.

JOHN RATERMAN

Raterman has been with the local plant since 1970. His previous assignments with General Electric were in Syracuse and Schenectady, N. Y., Cleveland, Bucyrus and St. Louis. He is a native of Avon, Ohio and a graduate of the University of Cincinnati with graduate work at St. Louis University and Central Michigan University.

He spent three years in the United States Air Force as a weather forecaster in Oklahoma where he said he was able to keep the base free from tornadoes and Indian attacks. John, his wife, Mary Ann, two sons and daughter reside in Northwood Park.

He was introduced by Frank Gans. His topic was "The Hard Truth About Our Energy Future." Raterman told Kiwanians that energy must be conserved by more efficient automobiles, improved insulation in homes and business, better appliances, heat recovery and scrap recycling in industry.

The world's supply of energy comes from oil, coal, gas and nuclear plants and the supply of natural gas is running out, Raterman warned the club members. He said the United States will have three options to pursue: build 300 to 400 nuclear plants; 600 to 800 new coal mines with plants to convert the coal to electrical energy; or give up our present way of life and go back to the 1800's standard of living.

Ray Cundiff led the club in singing. Visitors were Carl Purty and Eric Archer from Circleville High School Key Club; an interclub from Springfield; Bob Downey and Joe Julian, prospective members.

Ron Spence reported on the charity ball and Dave Scheibel talked about the Charity Newsie Sale Monday.

New members inducted into the club were Tom Egbert, introduced and sponsored by Ray Cundiff; and Brent Liston, introduced by Sam McIlvaine and sponsored by E. R. (Tom) Bennett. They were inducted into the club by Dick Wylie.

Tax Incentives For Business Left In Legislative Limbo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to grant property tax exemptions as an incentive for new business investment in Ohio has been left in legislative limbo with the breaking off of House-Senate conference committee meetings.

House and Senate conferees failed in another attempt Tuesday to agree on a formula assuring that local government units, particularly school districts, will not lose money as a result of the business tax break.

"It appears we're on dead center," said Rep. George D. Tablack, D-Campbell, after adjourning the joint panel indefinitely. "They are not going to budge and I'm not going to budge either."

But the bill's sponsor, Rep. Robert J. Boggs, D-Jefferson, held out hope that an agreement could still be reached among the three House and three Senate committee members. The alternative would be the appointment of a new conference group to start all over again.

As approved by the House, the bill provided a tax break of more than 50 percent on machinery and equipment purchased by new or expanding industries.

It ran into trouble in the Senate over fears that local governments, which collect property taxes, would suffer a loss, at least on revenue resulting from growth. It passed the Senate, but only after a major amendment to grant tax abatement through a credit on the corporate franchise tax, thus shifting the burden to the state.

Tablack opposed the new formula and defeated it in conference. A flurry of conflicting figures on projected loss or gain for school districts failed to resolve the issue, as did several amendments designed to protect or even reimburse school districts.

"I see a nightmare of problems that result from whatever way we go to protect the school districts," Tablack said of these schemes. "I see nothing but nightmares in the way of administration."

Boggs attempted a last-minute amendment Tuesday to guarantee schools extra funds to compensate for untaxed business growth, but it failed to garner immediate support, perhaps due to its complexity.

"We've changed it into a no-loss school bill," groused Sen. William H. Mussey, R-Batavia.

Looming over the stalemated negotiations was speculation over the impact of a new tax law on Ford Motor Co.'s pending decision on locating a new transmission plant in Clermont County near Batavia.

"We're not up here to pass a bill for the Ford Motor Co.," Mussey insisted when asked what influence the bill would have on Ford's decision. "We're not up here to pass a bill for General Motors."

But Mussey wants very much to pass a bill and has indicated he would accept either the House or amended Senate version.

Farmer Gets Tired Of Low Cattle Prices; Switches To Exotic Animals

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP) — Like a lot of farmers, Don Shadow was disgusted with the low prices being paid for cattle. So he switched to more exotic stock — antelope, camel, llama and bison, among others.

"I got tired of the poor prices for cattle," Shadow, 37, said. "That was about seven years ago."

Now he devotes half of his 300-acre Franklin County spread to breeding about 20 species of rare animals and birds. When he has a surplus he sells them to individuals and zoos.

"I won't sell them just to anybody. They have to demonstrate that they have the facilities to take care of them," he said. "I deal mainly with the zoos."

Shadow, who also runs a nursery and still raises a few cattle and sheep, doesn't talk much about prices. But, by way of illustration, he said a young female llama is worth about $1,000 and a young male $300.

With special stock come special problems. "You have all kinds of problems because everything is different," he said. "All your fences have to be high — my corral, for instance, is eight feet high. And the barn needs special stalls so none of them can hurt themselves."

"They're all on large areas where they can graze themselves," he said. "But they need different supplemental feeds. Some of it is specially prepared, some of it I grow myself, and some of it I mix myself."

Among his treasures are black buck antelope from India, scimitar horned oryx from Chad in the northern Sahara, blesbok antelope from South Africa, dromedary camels, llamas, American bison, yaks and Texas longhorn cattle.

"I also have some little buck jack deer from south China — they're only about 15 inches high at the shoulder," he said. "And some mouflon sheep from the islands of Sardinia and Corsica. They're the ancestors of most breeds of sheep."

For variety, Shadow keeps ostriches from Africa, emus from Australia and rheas from South America — all this exotica about 45 miles west of Chattanooga.

Most of his stock comes from dealers and zoos. His farm has been approved by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Many zoos have limited space to exhibit their animals, so they sell most of the offspring to other zoos and individuals," he said.

"I've been interested in animals and their preservation all my life. Captive breeding is eventually going to be the only solution for some endangered species, particularly in some of the underdeveloped countries which are experiencing rapid population growths."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail VanBuren

Her Quiet Guy Might Just Be Shy

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who is very intelligent, articulate and informed. The problem is, he hardly opens his mouth when we're in the company of others (especially strangers.)

I desperately wish he would speak up so others would know how bright he is, but he just sits there as though he has nothing to contribute to the conversation. It's so frustrating and embarrassing that I want to scream.

When the two of us are alone, his dialogue is brilliant, but in company, he claims up. I'm sure some people think he's shallow, and others probably think he's stuck-up, but he's not.

What is wrong with him, Abby? How can I get him to enter into the conversation when we're in a group?

UPTIGHT

DEAR UP: Your friend could be shy. (Many intelligent, well-read people are.) Or perhaps he's too well-mannered to interrupt others who enjoy dominating the conversation.

You can help draw him into future conversations by asking him some direct questions. Try it.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get it across to my hairdresser that I wish she would keep quiet when she is working on me? I have changed beauty operators four times in the last year because all these girls do is talk, talk, talk.

I am not interested in their private affairs, and I have no desire to talk about mine. My husband says it's the same way in his barber shop. The barbers talk the men's ears off, too. People who work in offices and stores can't be jabbering to their customers or clients about everything under the sun. They have to keep their minds on their work.

I would appreciate total silence so much while I'm getting my hair done that I would gladly pay a double tip for it. How can this be accomplished?

NO GOSSIP

DEAR NO: Offer your hairdresser a double tip to button her lip, and the only words you are likely to hear before a long silence will be, "You just made a deal, lady."

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged woman who hasn't been to my gynecologist for six years. With all this talk about cancer, I know I should go, but I've been putting it off because I'm afraid I might have VD. I had a few symptoms six years ago, but they went away. I've noticed my eyesight is not as good as it was, and my memory seems faulty. I read somewhere that VD symptoms usually disappear but the disease continues to do its damage.

I don't want to go to my regular doctor in case I have it. I've considered going to a strange doctor and using a phony name, but I hate to go through all those examinations and give him a whole medical history when I know I'll never see him again.

I just want to find out if I have VD so I can either take care of it or forget it.

I've never been intimate with anyone except my husband, but there is a good chance that he had it and I got it from him. What should I do?

CONCERNED IN ST. PAUL

DEAR CONCERNED: Call your Planned Parenthood Clinic and make an appointment for a gynecological examination. It will include blood tests and urinalysis. No phony name is necessary. All their records are strictly confidential.

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 869-2462

The Sermon was taken from the Book of Isaiah, Ch. 2, 1-5, for morning worship services at Derby United Methodist Church. The Rev. Linda Stafford delivered the sermon message and discussed with the little folks the meaning of Advent. It was announced that a box will be in the church vestibule from now till Dec. 19 for those who wish to donate items for area needy families for Christmas gifts. This is a part of the Pickaway County Operation Rudolph for these families and ours will insure a Merry Christmas to a family in our area. Flowers for the altar were given by Mrs. Betty Furniss Mogen and family in memory of her mother Mrs. Mabel Furniss who passed away a week ago. They were arranged by Mrs. Carolyn Ohnewehr and Mrs. Martha Buller in the Derby Garden Club.

The adult choir sang beautifully "The Lord's Prayer" and "Bless This House" directed by Jean Rubrecht, and the cherub with Sally Graham directing sang "Yes He Does." Presentation of the charter by Cub Scout Pack 847 was rescheduled for December 11. The church sponsors the Pack.

The Derby Church children are practicing every Saturday from 2:30-4 p.m. for the Christmas program. The Parent-youth meeting will be held on Tuesday Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Derby Church.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the Milton Tylor family: Milton passed away on Monday after a long illness. They also offer condolences to the Francis Furniss family, and to the family of Golda Blessing Redman who passed away

Blasphemy Still Crime In Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — The next time you stub your toe, be careful about your choice of words — blasphemy still is a crime in Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Senate voted down a bill Tuesday that would repeal the 280-year-old law against cursing in the Lord's name.

"We are opening the doors to destroying one of the Ten Commandments," cautioned state Sen. William X. Wall, as he urged his colleagues to reject the measure.

But a colleague, state Sen. Alan Sisitsky, read aloud the Massachusetts law. The penalty for blasphemy, he told the chamber, was a fine of up to $300 or a year-long prison sentence.

The Senate had given the bill initial approval in August, but Tuesday's vote, according to state Sen. David Locke, came "after enough of them (senators) had come to their senses."

Pet Snake Rescued

EAST GREENBUSH, N.Y. (AP) — Volunteer firemen led tenants away from a smoky fire at an apartment complex, but one resident pleaded to return.

He pestered the firemen. He begged the chief. But he wouldn't say what was left behind.

Finally, a fireman led him back into the building. Three minutes later the man returned with a large snake wrapped around him, firemen said.

The unidentified man said the snake was his pet boa constrictor, but didn't want to stay and talk.

"Once outside, his primary concern was that his snake would catch cold," an official said. "So, he wrapped it around him once and stuffed the rest in his pocket until he got to the car."

More than 70 per cent of all fires occur in dwellings, according to estimates by the National Fire Protection Association.

last week. Golda was raised here by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Edwards after losing her own parents at an early age.

On the sick list are Lillian Nance, Donald Smith, Archie Sweet, Chuckie Weimer, Hazel Bruce, and if I missed anyone please let me know.

On the prayer list are the Taylor and Furniss families, Linda Miller, Esther Musselman, Lillian Nance, Bill Erb, Herman Rowland, the Redman family, and Mrs. Nelle Baughan, Bill Davis.

Congratulations to Mrs. Martha Buller, chosen Regional publicity chairman of region 9 of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs to succeed Mrs. James Whalen, who held the position for 25 years. Martha was also Pickaway County contact chairman for the region. Cheers also to Mrs. Inez Peterson who won a prize porker in a local raffle last week.

Don't forget Dec. 3 is the big day at the Derby Elementary School when Santa comes calling at the Christmas bazaar. They will offer many gifts and crafts for lovely Christmas gifts, many made by local organizations. Everyone is invited to attend and shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rosing of Cleveland, and Ralph Nance of Columbus were Saturday guests of Mrs. Charles Nance. Mrs. Nance spent Thanksgiving Day with her son and family Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nance and daughters and their families. A Friday caller at Mrs. Nances home was a second cousin, Russell Liston of Washington C.H.

On Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton J. Ward and son Clinton Jay Ward Jr., had as dinner guests Jay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ward of Columbus, Johnny Ward, a brother, sister Mr. and Mrs. Roy Saunders and three daughters of Orient, and a niece Trina Chamberlain.

Thanksgiving Day dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kerwin Durlinger, Tom and Marci were Jody's mom and sister, Mrs. Maizie Ridgway and Linda Ridgway, and Nancy Smith.

Local Woman Wins Law Competition

Ann Heffelfinger, a second year law student at Wake Forest University, won the final phase of the 1977 Judge Edwin M. Stanley Law Competition held in Winston-Salem, N. C.

Thirty-two law students entered the competition early in 1977 and two remained to argue a pending Supreme Court case in moot court. Judges were North Carolina attorney general Rufus L. Edmisten, Superior Court Special Judge James M. Bailey, Asheville, N.C., and federal magistrate Russell Eliason, Winston-Salem.

Heffelfinger is the first woman to win the competition. Her next moot court appearance will be at the College of William and Mary Law School in Williamsburg, Va., in February. Heffelfinger is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Heffelfinger, 545 Green Acre Ct.

Judge Refuses New Trial

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A municipal court judge has refused to grant a new trial to a Dayton man who claimed his male marriage partner was forced to testify against him.

Judge W. Erwin Kilpatrick ruled Monday the two men were not legally married, so the spouse privilege did not apply.

According to police reports, Barry Doney and William E. Merica had a domestic quarrel on Oct. 4. Doney reportedly barricaded himself in their apartment.

Merica called police, who had to climb onto a porch roof to enter the apartment. Then Doney reportedly cut Dayton police officer Mark Davis on the finger with a knife. Doney was charged with felonious assault, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

At an Oct. 19 trial, Merica was denied the privilege of not testifying against his spouse. Doney was convicted of the misdemeanor charges and bound over to the Montgomery County grand jury for felonious assault of the policeman.

Doney filed for a new trial with Kilpatrick because he denied them spouses privilege. Under the statute, one spouse cannot be compelled to testify against the other, protecting their confidential communications.

The two men claim they were married in June in Florida. Kilpatrick said Monday even if Florida considered the men married, he doesn't.

"Even if there was as asserted a ceremonial marriage after obtaining a license to marry, two persons of the same sex do not have the capability to enter into a marriage contract and the purported marriage is a nullity," Kilpatrick said.

A Florida bill specifically outlawing marriages between members of the same sex was signed into law June 8, the day after Doney and Merica claim they were married. Florida Attorney General Robert Sherwin said while it was being debated that same-sex marriages already were illegal.

Lobbyists For Canal Treaty Outdone By Conservatives

WASHINGTON (AP) — They've got the White House, the Pentagon, Gerald R. Ford and even John Wayne on their side — but so far, volunteer lobbyists for the Panama Canal treaty are being outdone by the conservative opposition.

That unequal match doesn't necessarily foretell the outcome of the eventual Senate vote to approve or reject U.S. agreement to relinquish control of the canal in the year 2000.

But in the rival efforts to generate public pressure, the opposition is far ahead.

"We believe that this is a reversible issue," said John O. Marsh Jr., once a top Ford aide, now a leader of the Committee of Americans for the Canal Treaties. He said that at this point, public sentiment is against the agreement, and acknowledged pro-canal volunteers cannot match the money and mail generated by the opposition.

"The canal has a constituency, the treaty hasn't a constituency, and one has to be created for it," said U.S. negotiator Ellsworth Bunker. "... I've been out on the sawdust trail."

Marsh added that treaty backers need to gain support "from the crossroads of America," where the

Cincinnati Schools Eliminate Jr. Highs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati schools aim to eliminate junior high schools for seventh and eighth graders and create middle schools for grades six to eight, according to James Jacobs, school district superintendent. Jacobs explained that the elementary schools eventually will cover kindergarten through grade five, and high schools would include grades nine through 12.

At middle school, teachers would instruct in several subjects rather than just one.

Jacobs said it would take up to 10 years to complete the plan.

average man dwells.

They spoke the other day, about as far as you can get from sawdust or crossroads. The setting and situation tell part of the story of the lobbying mismatch.

It was a sendoff luncheon at an exclusive Washington club for a delegation of about 20 civic, business and communications leaders, bound for Panama to meet with Panamanian and U.S. officials.

Angier Biddle Duke, the former U.S. ambassador to Spain and a leader of the Citizens Task Force on Panama, said each member of the group contributed $1,000 to pay for the mission.

They will, presumably, return to spread the word in behalf of the treaty. The Committee of Americans for the Canal Treaties, headed by Marsh and S. Lee Kling, a former Democratic Party finance director, is trying to do the same thing.

"President Ford, we believe, will be an active spokesman," said Marsh. Ford is one of the people featured in spot radio and television announcements the committee is sending to its supporters, seeking to have them broadcast on public service time. So is Wayne.

The Conservative Caucus is seeking free broadcast time, too, for spot announcements taken from Ronald Reagan's Senate testimony against the treaty.

But the heart of the opposition lobbying effort is a massive mail campaign, organized and financed by a coalition of conservative groups. They had been at work for months when the committee for the treaties was launched after a Sept. 7 breakfast at the White House.

And there's more to it than timing. It also is a matter of tactics. The opponents get the jump there, too, by starting their campaign from the bottom up, with mass mailings arranged by Richard A. Viguerie, the conservatives' master organizer and fundraiser.

It shows.

In its kit of instructions to treaty supporters, the pro-treaty committee notes: "Senate members have been inundated with mail against ratification. Most of that mail, however, is not of an individualized nature. That is, there are mass-produced letters which are all the same, and a great number of postcards. A personal letter from you to your senators will have much more impact."

Perhaps, but in Senate mailrooms, the letters pro and con are more often counted than analyzed.

So the conservatives have an emotional issue, an easy slogan — "giveaway" — and a game plan designed to generate maximum pressure. Letters from home are hard to ignore, even if they do have a suspicious similarity about them.

That leaves the pro-treaty volunteers in a catch-up situation, trying to get their message across by spreading the word from the top so as to mobilize grassroots support. Their case is more complex and therefore more difficult to make.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER ONE SANTA AND THE PIGWIDGEN

MANY YEARS AGO there lived a man who had an extraordinary love for children.

He was always giving them little gifts — especially at Christmas-time. He was so good and kind a man he was made the patron saint of children. He is called Saint Nicholas or Santa Claus for short and he is the spirit of all our Christmases.

No one knows how it came about that today Santa Claus lives at the North Pole and has flying reindeer and is able to bring toys to children all over the world. No one knows but many stories are told, and here is one of the most interesting.

Claus, as he was then called, lived in a village on a mountainside in a far-away land. He and his wife had no little ones of their own but their house was always filled with boys and girls.

Claus liked it that way. He told stories. He made up songs. He kept the cookie jar filled. He carved tiny wooden toys and gave them to the children. He scarcely had time to do his real work which was to make shelves and chairs and beds to sell to the villagers.

People could not understand how Claus could spend so much time playing with the children. He never seemed to worry about making a living.

Then one day some boys playing in Claus' attic found a fat black purse. The purse clinked when the boys shook it. They went home and told their parents that Claus had a treasure of gold in his attic.

Now gold had never been seen in that far-away place and everyone was amazed. All the villagers, men, women and children, went to Claus' house and told him what they had heard. They asked if they could see the treasure and merely feel the gold with their fingers.

"I have no gold!" exclaimed Claus.

"But the purse?" urged a villager. "Can't we even SEE the purse?"

Claus went to the attic and came back with the black leather purse. The sides bulged and the contents truly jingled like gold.

"If it's not gold, what is it?" asked an old man eagerly.

"I do not know," said Claus.

"Many years ago a traveler stayed the night in my father's house. He left the purse and said he would return for it some day. He made my father promise never to open it. My father kept his promise. When he died he made me promise the same thing and the purse has been forgotten all these years.

"Open it!" cried the villagers. "Surely such a promise was not meant to stand forever!"

"For me it was," said Claus stubbornly.

The village elder spoke up slyly and said, "But Claus, WE didn't make any such promise. Surely I can open the purse just for one peek."

"Yes, why not?" cried everyone, moving closer. "Yes, yes!" chorused the children. "Just a peek!" And suddenly the elder leaned over the purse and opened the clasp.

There was a hiss and a screech. The lamps sputtered. A strange warm breeze blew through the house. The villagers stumbled back against the walls and Claus cried out, "Mercy me! What have you done?"

Southgate Not Liable

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — "This is a positive sign to release the anxiety which has been hanging over our community," concluded Mayor Ken Paul after a Campbell County, Ky., circuit judge had released his community of liability in connection with the May 28 Beverly Hills fire.

Judge John A. Diskin cited two decisions by the Kentucky Supreme Court as guiding his ruling Tuesday that the northern Kentucky community — which drew much of its income from the supper club — could not be a party in circuit court to litigation evolving from the blaze which killed 164 persons.

The ruling was limited to Southgate's liability only as it relates to suits filed in circuit court.

"This is a big boost," Paul said after hearing of the decision. "The effect of the fire still hangs over the city. Naturally, with the litigation going on, people were concerned about what was going to happen."

"The figures involved were

Little Miami Scenic Railroad Meeting Set

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A meeting has been set for Dec. 8 to discuss planning for the proposed Little Miami Scenic Railroad.

Warren County Regional Planning Commission and the Little Miami Inc. have set to meeting to prove that local planners are intent on developing the abandoned Penn Central Railroad line as a recreational corridor.

The state of Ohio has already set aside $1 million to make a recreational corridor featuring a scenic railroad which would travel through Morrow, past Kings Island and on north to Greene County.

Attempts are now being made to persuade the federal government to set aside $3 million for the same purpose.

Father Of Dead Seaman Files Suit Against Navy

MOUNT PERRY, Ohio — Mystery lingers over the death last June of an 18-year-old Mount Perry recruit in a Navy dispensary. His father said Tuesday he will try to clear the air by filing a suit against the government.

Freddie West of Mount Perry said he would name the Navy in a damage suit to be filed in U.S. District Court in Columbus.

The son, Seaman Recruit Michael West, became ill on June 16 and died June 18, nine days after arriving for basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The Navy's report on the death showed the recruit had pneumonia and choked to death on his own vomit.

While the Navy said it regretted the death, it concluded in a report that "there is no evidence of malfeasance or misconduct on the part of any of the parties in this tragic death."

West said his suit would charge just the opposite, that the naval facility lacked qualified personnel and equipment to adequately treat his son's medical emergency.

"The suit will be based on the fact that there were no doctors on duty in the dispensary, and, in fact, there were no physicians' assistants or emergency medical equipment available — only corpsman."

"My son was receiving no treatment or medication whatsoever, and the fact that when a doctor did look at him, he did not find the problem that ultimately killed him," said West, a retired Air Force veteran.

"I'm charging the U.S. Navy with gross neglect," he said.

He said another investigation of his son's death is needed, as well as an evaluation of all military medical facilities.

Originally complaining of nausea, chills, sore throat and cough, the recruit was admitted to the dispensary with a 95-degree temperature, Navy reports said.

Navy records also showed that the admission examination report said his chest was clear and he was put on a list of those requiring "minimal" nursing care.

Although a blood count was ordered, none was taken, and records show that the recruit was examined by a medical officer about 24 hours before his death and was placed on a "soft diet" and fluids due to his "tiredness and fatigue."

The Navy released the findings through West's congressman at West's request.

"There were 40 patients in the dispensary with no doctors, no nurses, only corpsmen," said West. "It took 25 minutes after my son was discovered (lifeless) to get him to a hospital. The corpsmen were working on him with no emergency equipment available."

"Three corpsmen and a dental officer worked on my son. There were plenty of doctors at the main dispensary, but none at the dispensary where my son died," the father said.

Cleveland Teachers May Boycott

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's 176 public schools could be virtually deserted Thursday if teachers heed the urging of union leaders calling for a boycott of the 113,000-pupil system until they get paid.

Members of the Cleveland Teachers' Union (CTU), who missed a payday last Wednesday, approved a no-pay, no work resolution by 3,336 to 2,130 in voting that ended Tuesday night.

After seeing the vote totals and debating the matter for two hours Tuesday night, the union's executive board asked its nearly 6,000 members to "follow the mandate of the majority and not report for work Thursday until they receive pay ... or until a court has authorized such payment."

Charging that the school board had failed to live up to its contract with the teachers, union leaders have said a work stoppage would not be a strike. They advised the teachers to apply for unemployment benefits.

The school board reported in mid-October it was out of funds but was caught in a legal tangle involving three courts that has forced the schools to stay open despite the fact that there is no money available to pay the employees.

A ruling is expected this week from the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati which could clarify the situation, and board members have said they are hoping the state legislature will come to their rescue with a special bill permitting them to borrow against next year's revenues to finance current operations.

Hundreds of disgruntled teachers didn't wait for the vote, calling in sick the first two days of the week. With about 1,000 teachers off the job Tuesday, 14 schools were closed and about 11,000 pupils were sent home.

School Superintendent Paul Briggs, accentuating the positive, said, "We have a very loyal staff ... Eighty percent of the teachers were in the schools and they came to teach."

Some teachers have said they would go on working regardless of the membership vote.

And the Cleveland Council of Administrators and Supervisors, representing 450 principals, assistant principals and supervisors, voted to stay on the job. They haven't been paid either.

School Board President Arnold Pinkney said he was disappointed by the teacher vote but said the board "intends to follow the order of (federal) court and keep the schools open."

Tigers Lose Tilt To Blue Lions

A great foul shooting performance by the Tigers was not enough as Circleville fell to a big Washington C.H. squad, 66-58, Tuesday night in the Red and Black's season opener on the Blue Lions' court.

The Tigers sent the ball up from the foul line 32 times in the contest and saw it drop through the nets 26 times for 81 percent. This kept them in the ball game because the hot streak did not extend to the floor where the Round-towners attempted 58 shots with only 16 of them rippling the nets for a rather cool 28 percent.

On the other hand, the Blue Lions were torrid as they hit 27 of 52 from the floor for 52 percent and converted 12 of 14 charity tosses for 85 percent.

But, it was the Blue Lions, led by All-State candidate 6-foot-4 John Denen who controlled the ball game. The Tigers were never able to get out in front as Washington C.H. led all the way except for the first 30 seconds of the ball game when the Tigers tied the score at 2-2. The Fayette County cagers led 17-6 at the end of the first period, 30-23 at halftime, 48-37 at the third period buzzer and wrapped it all up with a 66-58 victory.

It appeared that the Blue Lions were going to run over the Tigers as they opened a 17-6 margin at the first quarter buzzer...But, they didn't count on the fight in the Tiger as the Roundtowners refused to play dead and they cut the margin to 30-23 at half time on some solid foul shooting by Roy Huffer and Pete Harrison.

Denen and Tom Bath scorched the nets in the third period for the Lions but Don Hill melted the iron with some great outside shooting to hold the deficit to 11 points at the buzzer.

The Tigers continued to scrap and in the final canto, with Hill once again setting the pace, managed to pull within eight points of the Lions but they were also battling the clock and it was just too much as the buzzer sounded and the Tigers were defeated but not beaten.

It was a sticky man to man defense applied by the Tigers which not only held the high scoring Blue Lions to 66 points but applied pressure throughout the game, causing 32 turnovers by the Fayette County cagers.

Hill led the Tigers offense with nine from the floor and two from the charity stripe for 20 points, Pete Harrison netted 11, Toren Bensonhaver hit 10, Roy Huffer swished nine, Brian Sealock had four and Dave Holbrook added four.

Denen paced Washington C.H. with 19 points, Jeff Elliott netted 16, Terry Wilson hit 11, Tom Bath sank 12, Steve Pritchett had six and Rod Tyree added two.

The Blue Lions controlled the boards as they pulled down 33 rebounds while the Tigers were getting 20. Denen paced Washington with 14 and Bensonhaver was top man for the Round-towners with nine.

In the turnover department, once again it was the Blue Lions with 32 while the Red and Black misplayed the ball 17 times.

The Tigers are now 1-0 for the season and will return to action Friday night in a South Central Ohio League contest at Greenfield.

The Circleville reserves turned the tables as they won over the Blue Lions, 45-24 to gain their first win of the season for coach Jim Diltz.

Anthony Smith led the Round-towners with 12 points, Mike Harrison connected for 11, Mark Morrison and Danny Martin both hooped nine while Keith Lewis hit four.

Dennis Dahner and Clark Lee both hit eight to pace the Washington C.H. squad.

GET POSITION - The crowd starts to move toward the basket to get position for the rebound of a Mark Vanover shot during action in Tuesday night's Westfall-Logan Elm cage contest. Defending Vanover is the Mustangs' Bruce Starkey (23). Other players in the photo are the Braves' Terry Wright (43), Jeff Collins (11), and Dan Hill (45). Westfall cagers visible are Jerry Mowery (15), Chris Weaver (21), and Kevin Creamer (33). After the smoke had cleared from the traditional county rivalry, the Braves had managed to come out on top of a 65-52 score.

Braves Scalp Mustangs 65-52

By TOM SPRING
Herald Sports Writer

The Logan Elm Braves opened their 1977-78 basketball season in proper style by beating county-rival Westfall 65-52.

"Our full court pressure defense kind of disrupted their offense and we were able to speed up the tempo of the ball game to the point that... they were rushing their shots," said Logan Elm Head Coach Butch Kobel.

The Mustangs had the shots but the basket seemed to have a lid on it. Westfall won the battle of the boards 39-34 but Logan Elm put the shots in needed to win the game.

Jeff Collins paced the Braves with six field goals and four free throws in as many tries to take scoring honors with 16 points.

Mark Vanover hooped 11, Terry Wright hit on all four of his shots from the field and scored 10 points, Dan Hill netted eight, Jerry Scanlon had seven, Mark Martin, Brad Hunt and Dave Elsea each scored two and Bruce Hannigan added a free throw.

Freshman guard Jerry Mowery sank four from the field and three free throws to lead Westfall with 11 points, Larry List and Bruce Starkey each scored nine, Tom Adams and Kevin Creamer canned seven each, Randy Hartzell netted five, Chris Weaver and Dan Schleich swished in two apiece.

The Braves shot 43 percent from the floor hitting 26 of 60 attempts and tossed in 13 of 18 at the free throw line for 72.2 percent accuracy.

The Mustangs found the range 19 times in 62 field goal attempts for 30 percent success and sank 16 of 31 from the charity stripe for 51.6 percent.

Westfall misplayed the ball 25 times while Logan Elm turned it over on 20 occasions.

Mustang junior guard Tom Adams scored a bucket as the Mustangs took the opening tipoff but Tom Congrove, Mark Vanover and Jeff Collins quickly changed that tune and the score became 6-2.

Westfall narrowed it to 6-5 on a pair of Larry List free throws and a toss by Kevin Creamer.

Vanover sank his second bucket of the night for the Braves but Bruce Starkey brought the Mustangs within one on a pair of charity tosses.

That, however, was as close as the hosts were to be for the rest of the night. Jerry Scanlon sank a basket and the Braves' big center Dan Hill put two more through the cords and the Braves took a 14-7 lead.

Jerry Mowery's two free throws ended first quarter scoring.

Logan Elm pulled away from the station in the second quarter with a scoring barrage of 21 points. Mark Vanover and Terry Wright led the way with eight points apiece.

The half came to a close with the Braves on top 35-17.

The third quarter was nearly even as the Mustangs gradually began to pick up the pieces. The Braves increased their lead gradually by outscoring their hosts 17-14 in the quarter for a 52-31 edge.

Logan Elm rolled the lead up to 56-33 early in the final quarter but the Mustangs never gave up and began to find a way to score. Westfall scored 21 points behind the play of Randy Hartzell and Jerry Mowery while holding the Braves to 13 markers.

Kobel said afterwards, "They (the Mustangs) are a good ball club. I thought we played sloppy at times and I think that might have affected their ball game a little bit, too."

The Braves ran into a lot of foul trouble as they committed 30 personal fouls. Rock Huggins fouled out, two others had four fouls and three more had three each. Kevin Creamer fouled out for the Mustangs.

The fast action may have had a lot to do with fouls and turnover trouble as their was never a slow moment in the game.

Kobel was pleased with the play of Collins, Vanover, and Congrove at the guard slots and Dan Hill and Terry Wright off the boards.

"I think Rock Huggins will be a help to us this year. He's coming around and is a dominant factor," his coach said. Huggins missed last season with a leg injury.

Mustang coach Mike Eckle said, "Our kids didn't react and play them with the capability they have of playing them."

The Braves won the reserve game 48-26. Logan Elm led by quarter scores of 11-6, 21-12 and 32-16.

Pacing the Red, Black and White was B. Leasure who took scoring honors with 16 points and M. Martin who had 12. P. Evans and D. Hemming scored five points each, R. Calliton hooped six while C. Hildenbrand and B. Green added two each.

Tracey Puckett led the Mustangs with 10 points, Doug Creamer netted six, Roy Whipple canned three, David Roush, Joe Valone and Chuck Sollars sank two each and Shorty Roberts scored one.

The Braves' teams are 1-0 and will open Mid State League play at Berne Union Friday.

Westfall's record is 1-2. The Mustangs will return to Scioto Valley Conference action Friday when they host Adena.

Bengals Can't Afford Ambush At Arrowhead

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals have one last hurdle before their Dec. 10 showdown with the Pittsburgh Steelers — and they can't afford an ambush Sunday at Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium.

"We overlook Kansas City and we're gonna get blown out," said defensive end Gary Burley.

Veteran defensive back Tommy Casanova said the Bengals haven't forgotten last year's scare by the Chiefs.

"They nearly did us in last year. I hate to play them over there," said Casanova.

He was referring to Cincinnati's come-from-behind 27-23 victory in the last four minutes.

Coach Bill Johnson refuses to discuss the looming battle with the defending champion Steelers.

"The only thing on our minds this week is Kansas City," said Johnson, warning his club that the Chiefs possess a "potent" attack despite their 2-9 record.

He said Kansas City's receiving corp has the capability "to hurt you in the air. They can do it from anywhere on the field."

The Bengals could win the Central Division title of the American Football Conference by winning their final three games against Kansas City, Pittsburgh and Houston. However, they would have defeat Pittsburgh by more than six points to claim their first division title since sharing it in 1973.

Sunday's 30-13 victory over the New York Giants kept the Bengals post-season hopes flickering. Cincinnati has rebounded from a devastating 42-10 pounding by Minnesota with two consecutive impressive victories, including a 23-17 thriller over the powerful Miami Dolphins. The 30 points against New York was Cincinnati's second highest total of the season.

Johnson said Kansas City has made some personnel changes in recent weeks which put an emphasis on experience.

"Since Tom Bettis took over a month ago, they've gone back to using veteran guys," said Johnson.

The Cincinnati defense will face a backfield containing former Green Bay great John Brockington and Ed Podolak.

Johnson said All-Pro Isaac Curtis has undergone a knee examination in Los Angeles by prominent sports physician Dr. Frank Jobe.

Curtis, the Bengals' top receiving threat, has damaged cartilage in his left knee. The extent of damage to the knee is not known yet, but Curtis is expected to miss the remainder of the season.

"We're not afraid to run with anybody," declared Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham, whose 76ers opened up all the burners in the final 15 minutes and pulled away the Spurs for a 129-117 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night.

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Detroit Pistons edged the Milwaukee Bucks 100-99, the Atlanta Hawks beat the Boston Celtics 108-101, the Chicago Bulls defeated the New Orleans Jazz 95-87, the Cleveland Cavaliers whipped the Los Angeles Lakers 118-101, the Houston Rockets stopped the New York Knicks 120-103, the Denver Nuggets beat the Seattle SuperSonics 115-99, the Golden State Warriors defeated the New Jersey Nets 110-101 and the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Phoenix Suns 108-96.

George McGinnis led Philadelphia with 31 points, Erving had 28 and Collins 27.

Miami Trace Signal Caller Is Back Of The Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Centerville Coach Bob Gregg, Miami Trace quarterbacking whiz Art Schlichter and Bob Crable, the heart of playoff champion Cincinnati Moeller's defense, lead The Associated Press' 1977 Class AAA All-Ohio prep football squad.

Gregg, whose teams have lost but one game in three regular seasons, earned the AAA Ohio Coach of the Year laurels.

His squad was picked to finish third in its own league, yet ran its winning streak to 22 games this fall with a 10-0 record.

Schlichter, the No. 1 recruit on major college lists this fall, was hailed as the big school Back of the Year.

The 6-foot-3, 188-pound Schlichter passed and ran for 2,333 yards, propelling Miami Trace to 10 straight victories and No. 2 state ranking this season. He also figured in 34 touchdowns in 1977.

Crable is a 6-3, 210-pound senior linebacker, whose defensive heroics helped lift Moeller to an unprecedented third straight playoff championship. Gerry Faust, the Crusaders' coach, considers him among the best in the school's rich tradition.

Schlichter has command of a big, mobile line and a backfield of Canton McKinley's Rick Asberry, Tim Frajter of Garfield Heights and Ray Angerstein of Akron Springfield, the state's AAA rushing champion with 1,919 yards this fall.

The No. 1 offensive line features such behemoths as Bob Hayes of Steubenville, 6-5 and 250, and Westerville North's Jay Allison, 6-7 and 260, at the tackles and Toledo Central Catholic tight end Dean Maszta, 6-4 and 225.

They are joined by end Bill Hanners of Miami Trace, guards Dan Schoen of Toledo St. John's and Carl Baily of Elyria and Mike Sylvester, considered the best center in Moeller's history.

The defensive line is just as impressive with Ben Lee of Canton McKinley and Jim Bachna of North Ridgeville at the ends, Ken Ott of Sandusky and Joe Smith of Cincinnati Colerain manning the tackles and Mark Sullivan of Mentor Lake Catholic the middle guard.

At linebacker with Crable are Lonnie Meredith of Toledo Whitmer and Joe Berner of Avon Lake.

Another Moeller standout, versatile Bill Long, heads the defensive backfield of Napoleon's Tom Weaver and Ted Hall of Gahanna.

AP All-American Team Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Four repeaters have been named to The Associated Press All-America college football team for 1977, along with running back Earl Campbell, who led Texas to the No. 1 regular-season ranking, and quarterback Doug Williams from predominantly black Grambling State University.

Williams, the all-time leader in passing yardage and touchdown passes, was the first Grambling player to make the AP's nationally recognized major All-America team since this is the small Louisiana school's first season in the NCAA's Division I.

The 6-foot-4, 218-pound senior from Baton Rouge, La., was joined on the All-America squad by repeaters Terry Miller, Oklahoma State running back; Ross Browner, Notre Dame defensive end; Jerry Robinson, UCLA linebacker, and Dennis Thurman, Southern California defensive back.

With one game remaining, against Temple University in Tokyo Dec. 11, Williams has completed 160 of 315 passes for 2,974 yards and 34 touchdowns in 10 games.

The yardage and scoring passes are tops in the nation and give Williams a shot at the single-season NCAA marks of 3,464 passing yards by Tulsa's Bill Anderson in 1965 and 39 TD passes by Dennis Shaw of San Diego State in 1969.

For his career, Williams has thrown for 8,008 yards and 91 touchdowns. The old national marks were 7,549 by Florida's John Reeves and 69 touchdowns passes by Steve Ramsey of North Texas State.

The AP team again will be featured on Bob Hope's Christmas Special on Monday, Dec. 19 (NBC-TV, 8-9 p.m. EST).

Joining Williams in the backfield were Campbell, who topped the nation's rushers with 1,744 yards and the Longhorns rolled to an 11-0 regular season record, and Miller, who finished third, with 1,680 yards and set several Big Eight Conference rushing records even though he was the only offensive starter returning from last season's Tangerine Bowl team.

The receivers are 249-pound tight end Ken MacAfee of Notre Dame, who has caught 49 passes in 10 games; wide receiver Ozzie Newsome, who is equally at home at split end or tight end in Alabama's Wishbone offense, and Arizona State wide receiver John Jefferson, the Western Athletic Conference's all-time reception yardage leader.

Making up the offensive interior line are tackles Chris Ward of Ohio State and Dennis Baker of Wyoming, guards Mark Donahue of Michigan and Leotis Harris of Arkansas, and Pitt center Tom Brzoza.

The defensive ends are Browner, the 1976 Outland Trophy winner as the

Father, Son Bag Deer Each

Sam Underhill, 11, bagged his first deer, a button buck, with a .12-gauge shotgun in Meigs County Monday. His father, David, shot a five-point buck with a like gun on the same hunt. The Underhills completed their hunt by noon. Monday was the opening day of the deer gun season which runs through Dec. 2. The Underhills live at Route 1, Stoutsville.

Running back Rocky Bleier of the Pittsburgh Steelers and owner Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., of the San Francisco 49'ers were in the same graduating class at Notre Dame.

nation's top lineman, and Kentucky's 6-foot-7 Art Still. The tackles are Brad Shearer of Texas and Dee Hardison of North Carolina, with Penn State nose guard Randy Sidler.

Along with Robinson at linebacker are George Cumby of Oklahoma, The AP's Defensive Player of the Year in the Big Eight, and Mike Woods of Cincinnati. Robinson, a junior, and Cumby, a sophomore, are the only non-seniors on the 22-man All-America team.

The secondary consists of Thurman, Zac Henderson of Oklahoma and Bob Jury, Pitt's career interception leader.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Concentrate on personal advancement within the framework of your abilities. Learn more about yourself, your latent talents. Be alert to constantly changing trends.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Rarin' to go? This spirit, adequately controlled, can be the forerunner of substantial gain. Predicate action on current needs, quality, timeliness.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Trends mixed. Bring order out of uncertainty through clear, concise analysis and like action. Emphasize system and optimism.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): If there is no guide or directive, be careful not to act impulsively on new projects. Appraise values warily. Day will be a challenge to your ingenuity.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Controversy may prove annoying. Yet here is where your understanding, tolerant self can shine. Stay away from minor issues and trivia and you can handle pertinent points more easily.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): The most difficult chore may bring the most rewarding returns if handled well. Don't turn your back, therefore, on complex situations. They won't go away.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Circumvent trouble, even if you have to take the long way around. Some persons could be irritating now. Avoid them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Don't make decisions under stress and don't write anything you may later regret. Maintain your equanimity even if certain situations annoy you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stellar influences indicate some new interests. Make sure you are ready for them — but without slighting current obligations. Don't let "moods" cause misunderstandings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed influences. Question and investigate where there is margin for error. Do not accept suggestions blindly. And do not expect more than is reasonable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A new light thrown upon a certain situation should prime you for fine advantage in the offing. Rouse yourself to work for attainment which will require more than usual vigor.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You have considerable freedom to movement now. Best used, it can help to further either personal or creative objectives.

YOU BORN TODAY have many and varied talents; may accomplish in more than one occupation. Your quest for knowledge is unceasing and, what's more, you not only remember all that you learn, but skillfully apply that knowledge to situations at the "just right" moments and places. In business, you could become a top-ranking executive, but you will probably find your greatest satisfaction in science, literature or the law. In the latter case, politics or statesmanship would probably become more ultimate destiny. On the personal side, you are extremely gregarious, generous to a fault and deeply affectionate — though not always demonstrative.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Vietnam
Boat People

KHLONG YAI, Thailand (AP) — "I will die! I will die! I will die!" screamed the aged Vietnamese woman aboard the boat of no smiles. Forty-nine other sick or hungry refugees, half of them children, sat in silence or wept uncontrollably on the deck of the weatherbeaten 30-foot fishing boat that had brought them from Phuquoc, off the west coast of Vietnam, through the dangerous waters off Cambodia.

They thought they had reached freedom that hot November day when they entered the snug harbor of Khlong Yai, a tiny fishing village within shouting distance of the Cambodian border.

But Thai marine police, armed with M-16 rifles, refused them permission to come ashore and towed the crammed fishing boat three hours back out into the Gulf of Siam. Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries that have more than 100,000 refugees from Indochina on their hands are becoming increasingly hostile to new arrivals from Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

U.N. and U.S. Embassy sources estimate that those who flee Vietnam by boat — the boat people — have a 30 to 50 percent chance of survival.

The Cambodian Communists may shoot up the small boats as they travel along the coast. Sea bandits have been known to seize refugee boats and kill everyone aboard for their valuables.

The Vietnamese usually escape in small fishing boats not built to withstand the dangers of the open sea. They generally leave home short of food and fuel. Some are lost at sea.

If they do reach Thailand or Malaysia, the police or the navy send them back to sea. The last boat allowed to dock in Thailand arrived Nov. 19 with 16 persons aboard. The Thais arrested them all. The U.S. Embassy helped get them freed, and they are reported emigrating to the United States.

A few days later the boat of no smiles was turned away from Khlong Yai.

The oldest person aboard was a woman in her late 70s. The youngest was a girl born Nov. 24 in the fish hold to Nguyen Na's 20-year-old wife, Ti. The 21-year-old father had been a medical corpsman in the South Vietnamese navy, trained by the U.S. Navy at San Diego, Calif. He delivered the baby.

Unemployment Bill Stalled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With a Dec. 31 deadline approaching, a bill extending unemployment benefits to new classes of Ohio workers has been stalled, almost unnoticed amid the flurry of year-end legislative activity.

House members rejected a joint conference committee report 47-43 last week, forcing leaders to appoint new conferees for another attempt at compromise, hopefully in time for floor action next week.

The bill, offered by the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services includes a number of provisions that must be approved by the end of the year in compliance with 1976 amendments to federal unemployment laws.

The dispute in the General Assembly, however, centers on a section that is not mandated by Washington — domestic workers in private homes, college clubs, or fraternities and sororities.

These are the maids, cooks, housekeepers and handymen, previously exempt from the unemployment compensation law. The bill would apply to employers with payrolls of at least $1,000 for one or more domestic employees during a quarter calendar year period.

This, according to Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-Shaker Heights, amounts to a payroll tax and should not be imposed on Ohio households.

Lehman's arguments, and the familiar if futile refrain that the state should resist orders from the federal government, spelled defeat for the measure in the House, despite warnings that inaction could cause "decertification" of the Ohio program.

Decertification would mean the U.S. Department of Labor could tie up state-collected unemployment funds when they are sent to Washington where the unemployment program is administered. It could also mean a withdrawal of administrative support for the Ohio program, or elimination of a credit which lowers the amount employers pay directly to the federal government, according to Beman S. Pound of Ohio BES.

In addition to domestic workers, the bill would extend benefits to some farm workers, unclassified civil servants, substitute teachers and non-public school employees.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Leonard J. Camera, D-Lorain, eliminates any disqualification from benefits, stemming from pregnancy.

It also raises an employer's taxable wage base, used to compute the percentage paid into the unemployment fund, from the first $4,200 to the first $6,000 paid annually to an employee.

Most of these points have been agreed to and Camera has hinted he would bend on Lehman's objection to coverage for domestics.

However, Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-Akron, indicated last week he would not back off on that point.

"I will not abandon the domestics," Ocasek said as the legislature adjourned the November session.

Ocasek and House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe, D-New Boston, will depend on a new panel, three appointees from the Senate and a like number from the House, to find common ground.

COMPARISON — Warren Parrish, right, senior Division Representative of the American Cancer Society, discusses the progress of the society since its inception in 1913 with Calvin Gebhart, president of the Pickaway County Unit. From its infancy the organization has grown each year to educate people in preventing cancer and to recognize danger signals. It now has 22 lifetime doctors engaged in research along with others working on a part time schedule. Parrish told board members at the Monday evening meeting that at the present time two out of three cancer patients can be cured through early detection and treatment. He said the work of the board is to involve more people in the program and further education.

Farmers Agree Their Business Needs More Professionalism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three Ohio farmers have agreed their business needs more professionalism but don't agree that strikes by farmers is the way to make economic gains. They said Tuesday the policies of President Carter's administration do little to help farmers and said consumer education would create a better understanding of their needs. "You have to educate the public as to what is happening on the farm," said Terry Hafer of Marion County, who grows corn, soybeans and hogs on 1,100 acres. Farm policies of the Carter administration, he added, "so far amount to nothing."

The administration "messed around and delayed the farm program until it was too late," he said. "Wheat farmers had to get their seed in the ground before the program was initiated ... Farmers had to make decisions before the Carter administration did anything." Farmer demonstrations such as that last weekend in Carter's home of Plains, Ga., could help farmers, said Arthur Logan, who runs a 150-head dairy farm in Trumbull County near Warren. "But we have to cover expenses during any strike," he added. "There is so much agriculture products on the market it would take 30 days before it could be felt." "I don't think we could afford to strike for a month," Joan Hollinger added. She and her husband, Nick, work 700 acres for grain and livestock in Darke County near Greenville. The three couples, commenting during an Ohio Farm Bureau meeting here, agreed there might be merit to a farmer strike but said they don't favor farmer actions advocated in the past by some farmer unions. "Those unions do more radical things," said Mrs. Hollinger. "School teachers have to keep going back to school to keep up with new standards for their profession," Hollinger said. "We ought to somehow, some way, get more organization to ours."

Judge Has Green Thumb

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County's red-robed judge has a green thumb. In fact Rupert Doan is such a rose enthusiast that he has become more than a home gardener. He's become a wholesaler. Doan is a partner in a wholesale rose business which produces 750,000 to one million rose buds a year. "I'm infatuated with growing, especially roses," Doan said. Doan, who wears a red-colored robe when he's on the bench, became involved as a business venture and credits his knowledge of roses to Al Koch, who has been with the company for 20 years. "Koch is totally devoted to those roses," Doan said. "It's a job that defies hours." When an inferior bloom slips through, the common pleas court judge admitted they "blame it on the weekend help," meaning him and his partner who work the one-acre greenhouses on nights and weekends. "Roses are a tough crop to grow," Doan said. "They are expensive initially and they are expensive to treat and grow." There are so many insects, blight, mildew and fungi which affect roses. Then, too, there is the weather. "If you have a long, dark winter, the plants and bushes that need sunlight produce less," the judge said. "Then, in the summer, they go wild. In the fall, you clean the greenhouse glass to take advantage of any sun available and in the summer you shade it by painting the glass." Americans have become more flower and plant conscious in the last 10 years, Doan said. Yet despite the increased interest, Doan said Americans do not approach the love Europeans have for flowers. In America, people tend to be "special day" lovers of bouquets, he said. Also Americans "don't know how to tend cut flowers," he continued. "They put them in a vase with water and think that's it." He said they should be placed in warm water with a little sucrose and aspirin or preservative added. Water should also be changed daily, he said. Doan said that in addition to learning about roses, he has also developed an understanding of the problems of small business. "Small business was the backbone of this country," he said. "At this point the government is breaking the back of small business." "I have a great appreciation of anyone growing plants for a living. It has to be love because you are not adequately compensated for the effort."
